

SBSC 301 : Serial Killers & Society

Applies sociological methods, principles, and theories relating to serial murder and its various categories, including mass murderers, sexual predators, male versus female murderers, team killers, and their respective victims. Examines the production of discourses related to spectacularization and commodification of celebrity and violence in popular culture, profiles serial killers as a concern for the criminal justice system and reinvestigates iconic cold cases.

Credits 3

Studio Hours 0

Lecture Hours 3

Prerequisites

None.